Bishop Libasci established this award to emphasize the importance of volunteers to our organizations and communities and to honor a volunteer who unselfishly provides countless hours of his or her time. New Hampshire's network of non-profit organizations is able to serve those most in need because of the dedication of volunteers who give of time, talent and treasure to the mission of their organizations. Through the Vita et Caritas Award, the Bishop hopes that more volunteers will come forward to join in the effort to help those who rely on the services of our non-profit organizations.

Nominations for the Award must come from a New Hampshire not-for-profit agency, whose mission is compatible with Catholic teaching in its operations and policies. The nominee must be a volunteer, not a paid staff member of the organization, and does not need be Catholic.

The recipient of the Vita et Caritas Award will be honored for his or her contribution. The recipient will receive a special plaque and be recognized at the annual Bishop's Summer Reception. The organization with which the recipient is associated will receive an award of $2,500 that can be used to support the organization.

A nomination form is available on the Diocesan website (www.catholicnh.org/bcaf/vca) under the Bishop's Charitable Assistance Fund page. The nomination must be submitted by the chief executive officer of the non-profit.

Background

This annual award is given in honor of the memory of Ruthie Ford, whose life reflected Catholic ideals and tireless dedication to service in the cause of helping women, children and families.

Ruthie was a gentle person with a deep inner strength. Guided by the principle that life was a gift from God, she used her beliefs to create social action. As a young mother at the age of twenty-six, she began taking pregnant women into her home. Working with Catholic Charities of New Hampshire, Ruthie provided for the well-being of these women while counseling them and teaching them the skills of motherhood.

Ruthie was a regional director for Birthright International and for over twenty-five years saw to the expansion of their counseling centers for women with unplanned pregnancies throughout New England.

Perhaps Ruthie's greatest achievement was co-founding New Generation, a shelter for homeless pregnant women in Greenland in 1987. To date, New Generation has served over 425 women and supported them as more than 275 babies were born.

After Ruthie's death in 2012, her family worked with the Bishop of Manchester to establish the Vita et Caritas Award. Ruthie was one of the first supporters as well as a director of what today is the Bishop's Charitable Assistance Fund. As a member of the Board of Directors of the Bishop's Charitable Assistance Fund, Ruthie met with non-profit organizations to present grants on behalf of the Bishop of Manchester. Due to Ruthie's and her husband, Pat Ford, long association with the Fund, the family asked to have the annual award be given as part of the Bishop's Summer Reception, which marks the end of the annual campaign to raise funds to support organizations that provide for basic needs.
